

Wider reach for second edition of Circular Nonwovens Forum

6 October 2021

180 key actors gather to debate challenges and opportunities in the pursuit of a circular economy

Gathering key stakeholders and industry players, the second edition of EDANA's Circular Nonwovens Forum enabled engaged professionals to discuss the latest trends and innovations around circularity within the sector.

Held on the 30th of September, both online and in person at La Hulpe Brussels, the forum gathered nonwoven manufacturers, their suppliers and converters for an in-depth engagement with stakeholders on challenges and opportunities in the pursuit of a circular economy for nonwovens.

Many delegates were greatly enthused to attend an in-person event again and feedback was very positive on a programme covering biodegradable testing and certification, innovations in materials and production processes, and the challenges of recycling.

"At Jacob Holm we are very driven by sustainability," said Christel Dendas, President of Health and Skin Care" and here I learnt a lot on new technologies and to hear confronting points of view is always valuable. Also, it was wonderful to see people face to face again!"
